TWO ALLIED ARMIES JOIN HANDS AT SALERNO

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE PAST 24 hours have produced three notable achievements for Allied arms.

First in American hearts must come the good news that the gallant American and British troops on the bloody beaches of Salerno not only have made secure their bridgehead but have seized the initiative and are on the offensive. Our boys have weathered the initial stage of a nasty German storm.

Second, and more important militarily, is the unemotional word from Moscow that the Red army has broken the German line in the vital strategic sector east of the Kiev-Zaporozhe line of the Dnieper river. That vastly increases the gravity of the Hitlerite position.

Third we have the Russian recapture of their big Black sea naval base of Novorossisk which is, so to speak, the hinge of the narrow gateway the Nazis have been holding at the Kuban peninsula entrance to the Caucasus. This jeopardizes the whole German position at the last remaining vantage ground from which they could glimpse the lakes of golden oil for lack of which they are in dire straits.

This is the ninth day of the battle of Salerno and, while heavy fighting continues, it goes all right. Thousands of reinforcements are being poured into our ranks. While the Germans have the advantage of their fortified positions on the heights overlooking the open beaches, Allied warplanes control the sea and Allied warships dominate the air.

The Nazi defenses are being mercilessly blasted with both bombs and big naval shells. The Allies are employing the greatest concentration of airpower seen in the Mediterranean.

And elements of General Montgomery's veteran British Eighth army have almost reached the Salerno battlefield in the race from the south. The Germans are threatened with being caught between two forces.

BY THE WAY, if the reader will excuse an interpolation while we are on the subject of Italy, there are a couple of questions I wish somebody would answer for me.

Is it necessary, in order to sell bonds and keep the American public from "this foolish, childish over-optimism," to make such depressing speeches as our usually smiling friend the Secretary of the Treasury made Wednesday about the Italian campaign? Does the man-in-the-street really have to be treated as a psychological guinea pig, so that he won't become complacent, or is he in fact a pretty solid and understanding citizen? Why does Mr. Morgenthau have to talk about "when and if we conquer Italy"—why the "if"?

TWO WOMEN INJURED IN HEAD-ON CRASH

Two women were injured in a head-on collision of two cars at 7:45 p. m. yesterday on Route 7, southeast of Columbiana, state highway patrolmen reported.

Mrs. Donna Kiraly, 29, of R. D. 1, Columbiana, and Mrs. Edna Keeler, of R. D. 1, New Waterford, were injured. Mrs. Kiraly suffered a lacerated nose, abrasions and body bruises. Mrs. Keeler was taken to her home after the mishap, but was admitted later to South Side hospital, Youngstown. Her injuries have not been determined.

TIME QUESTION BEFORE SOLONS

Survey Shows Most Ohio Cities Returning To Eastern Standard

Ohio cities generally will return to Eastern Standard time within the next three weeks and set their clocks back an hour after following the national administration's plea for summer War time to save electric power, a state-wide survey showed today.

However, several city councils still are undecided on whether to drop war time during the winter months.

Salem city council will meet next Tuesday night to consider an ordinance authorizing the return to "slow" time. The city of Alliance will decide a similar issue Monday.

Washington Courthouse reverted to Standard time Sept. 6, eight others will follow its lead Sept. 26 and at least 13 others will change during the following week.

Little Confusion Seen

The autumn time change is expected to create a little confusion such as accompanied last spring's action of the state legislature which decreed slow standard time officially for the state, only to find almost unanimous city preference for War time.

The following communities will set their clocks back Sept. 26: Canton, Lorain, Mansfield, Warren, Sandusky, Cleveland, Youngstown and Cincinnati.

Ohio Ranks Ninth In Bond Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17—The $15,000,000 Third War Loan drive headed into its second and tougher half today.

Thursday sales of $2,620,000,000 worth of bonds swelled the total for the eight-day-old drive of $7,679,000,000 but brought this administration from National Director Ted Gammie.

The easiest part of the task is over. From now on it will mean a beating of the bushes to reach the tremendous goal of $15,000,000,000. Ohio ranked ninth among the states with 34 per cent of its $698,000,000 goal subscribed.

Speeder Is Fined

Jerry J. Moizis, 33, of North Olmstead, was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace George Wilson at Canfield last night following his arrest by state patrolmen on a charge of speeding on Route 224, west of Canfield.

F.D.R. REVIEWS WAR PROGRAM FOR CONGRESS

Promises Further Blows Against German, Japanese Militarists

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—President Roosevelt reviewed for Congress today the sweeping Allied war effort on fronts around the world and promised "further blows" against Germany and Japan and the ultimate routing out of "the war-breeding gangs of militarists."

The chief executive, in a lengthy message to the legislators, withheld any specific recommendations for congressional action to further the progress of the war or help solidify the peace to follow.

He confined himself largely to analyzing what has been accomplished on the fighting fronts and on the production front at home and to predicting powerful new thrusts at the foe, including fresh invasions of Hitler's European stronghold.

Urges Balkans to Quit

He made a bid for the Axis satellites to get out of the war, mentioning Rumania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria. He said the Allies have reliable information of "definite unrest and a growing desire for peace" among their peoples, adding:

"We hope that in these nations the spirit of revolt against Nazi dominance which commenced in Italy will burst into flame and become a consuming fire."

Mr. Roosevelt praised Russia's sledge hammer blows against the Nazis and at the same time gave what appeared to be his answer to some Russian complaints that the Allied operations in the Mediterranean have not drawn off enough German strength from the Russian front.

He said it was certain that the campaign in North Africa, Sicily and Italy, plus the engaging of large numbers of German planes in the skies over western Europe, "have given important help to the Russian armies along their advancing front from Leningrad to the Black sea."

Warns of Overconfidence

"We know, too," he said, "that we are contributing to that advance my making Germany keep many divisions in the Balkans, in

Light Frost Seen In Ohio Tonight

A light frost will settle over most of Ohio tonight, the state weather bureau reported today, but little danger was seen immediately for the corn crop in general.

George W. Mindling, weather forecaster at Columbus, said it probably would not become cold enough to kill much of the late-maturing crop, although the mercury likely will drop below temperatures of last night, which ranged between 47 and 57 over the state.

"Corn, because it is a tall-growing crop, is not likely to be greatly affected," Mindling said. "Tomatoes and all garden crops, because they lie near the ground, are likely to suffer extensive damage. Soy beans, too, may be affected."

A. J. Patch of Ohio State university said that anything near freezing weather would do a great deal of damage.

"Sixteen per cent of Ohio's corn crop is not matured," he said. "In the event of a heavy, killing frost in some sections, this could not be counted a total loss, for most of it could be put into ensilage with no resultant loss in feeding value. The difficulty here, though, lies in the fact that only one in ten farms in Ohio have silos."

He said that in any event, despite a heavy frost, much of the corn crop could be salvaged. The unfortunate aspect of the situation is that the greatest percentage of immature corn is in the normally heavy corn growing sections of the state.

"Should there be freezing weather in any section of the state, in which the thermometer drops to 32 degrees, pasture lands will be killed," Patch said. "This would be unfortunate for most stockmen have depended upon pastureland to help alleviate a very trying feed problem."

Solicit Bond Sales At Army Exhibit, Rally Next Monday

Opportunities to buy War Bonds will be given those who visit the Army caravan's exhibit of war equipment on S. Broadway next Monday afternoon, and who attend the rally at Reilly stadium that evening.

Arrangements for Third War Loan booths at both places have been made by Salem's War Finance committee.

The booth now being used to sell bonds at the State theater during the exhibit from 2 to 4 p. m. Women of the Quota club will be the bond sellers.

These club members also will be in charge of a booth at Reilly stadium in the evening. Aiding in the sale of bonds at that time will be most of the volunteer workers who have been soliciting at Salem homes, under the direction of their 14 captains and Chairman Charles McCorkill.

These workers were urged today to be at the stadium at 6:45, or immediately after the parade ends, displaying their identification badges and equipped with pledge forms. At the conclusion of the Army program, they will circulate through the crowd to get bond pledges from those who have not purchased or pledged previously.

Sales of War Bonds yesterday amounted to about $58,000, bringing the total to date to $490,176.90. There have been 2,234 sales.

12 Miners Perish, Six Are Rescued In Kentucky Pit

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 17.—Six coal-mined miners emerged alive last night from Three Point mine after a 12-hour entombment caused by an explosion that dealt sudden death to 12 companions.

The mine early this morning yielded the bodies of the dead, three being discovered at one tunnel entrance and nine others lying closely together not far away.

The three were found first more than a mile from the main mine entrance. Beyond this group, almost a mile further back in 12-foot tunnel, were the six men who saved themselves by taking refuge in the deadly black damp in their fight for life.

The six survivors came out on motor trucks, smiling broadly and with moist eyes revealing their unspoken appreciation for their rescue by crews of tireless miners who worked the clock around to fight through the poison gases to their cell.

The survivors: Harvey Lasley, Three Point; Warren Pruitt, Three Point; Charles Bailey, Cawood, Ky.; Shelley Farley, Three Point; Paul Helton, Three Point; Homer Osborne, Cawood.

The dead: Merle Blanton, Mous, Ky.; Carson Ramsey, Three Point; E. M. Morgan, Three Point; Albert Bonza, Three Point; Fred Irvin, Three Point; Leander Cole, Cawood; Dave Osborne, Cawood; Ed Osborne, Cawood; George Helton, Three Point; Frank McKenzie Cawood; Lawrence Jordan, Three Point; Marion Osborne, Cawood.

7 Singing WACS Will Accompany Army Unit Here

Army Plans Varied Entertainment For Public's Benefit Monday

When 200 Military Police trainees from the Fifth Service command arrive in Salem Monday noon, to set up camp in Centennial park, exhibit fighting equipment on Broadway, stage a parade and then a rally in the evening, they will bring their own entertainment, as well as war materiel.

With the caravan will be an eight-piece orchestra of soldiers from Billings General hospital, Indianapolis, and seven singing WACS—two officers and five enlisted young women.

Mess call sounded by the bugler at noon will be the signal for the public to see how and what the soldiers eat at the bivouac in Centennial park. After mess the civilians may watch the soldiers performing their regular duties and chores, and watch a close-order drill before 1:45, when the army equipment will be moved to S. Broadway, between State and Pershing, for public inspection from 2 to 4.

Can Sight Guns, Enter Jeeps

Army personnel will be on hand to explain the various guns, jeeps, etc., and the public is welcome to sight the guns and crawl in and out of the fighting equipment. The army chaplain will be there in his rolling chapel, and the WACS will present a walkie-talkie and interview prospective recruits.

During this two-hour period the soldiers, in groups of 40 will be taken through Salem plants to see what war materials are being manufactured here.

Promptly at 4 the equipment will be taken back to the park bivouac and the public again can inspect mess at 5.

At 5:45 the outfit and equipment will move from the park, ready for the parade which will move promptly at 6. The parade will wind up at Reilly stadium, where the evening rally is, scheduled to start at 7.

Rally At Stadium

Invocation by the chaplain will be followed by one minute of silence in honor of those who have lost their lives in the present war. J. Howard Sinclair, as master of ceremonies, will present the mayor, there will be a salute to representatives of agriculture, labor and

Rev. Bauman Marks Tenth Anniversary

Rev. John Bauman will celebrate the 10th anniversary of his pastorate at the Emmanuel American Lutheran church on S. Broadway in special services Sunday.

Rev. Bauman, installed here 10 years ago by Rev. Paul Buerling, dean of the theological seminary of Capital University in Columbus, came here from Pittsburgh, where he was pastor for 12 years.

He is a graduate of the Capital university seminary. During his pastorate, the church membership has grown from 200 to 540 members and has reduced an indebtedness of $58,000 to one fourth of that amount. The church today honors 89 men from its congregation who are serving in the armed forces at the moment of one, Zeno Duda, who died in service.

Dr. W. E. Scheutge of Bewickley, Pa., president of the eastern district of the American Lutheran church, will be speaker at the 10 and 11 a. m. services Sunday.

Officers of the church include: President, Rev. Bauman; vice president, W. J. Seeman; treasurer, Carl Abe; secretary, Walter Yarian; assistant, Matt Liebhart; financial secretary, Miss Katherine Fleischer.

British Eighth Connects With U.S. 5th Army

By Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 17.—The Fifth army of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark and the British Eighth army fused their fronts with establishment of contact between patrols following an amazing northward march of nearly 200 miles from the Italian toe by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's veterans, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Eighth army also made contact with British forces beating up the Italian east coast from Taranto, a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced. All three of the Allied beachheads on the west, south and east thereby were welded into a single front.

The contact between Gen. Montgomery's speeding warriors and Gen. Clark's American and British troops, who for eight days had fought the greatest engagement of the Mediterranean war in order to maintain their west coast foothold, was made somewhere in or near the southern end of the Salerno bridgehead.

Linking of the two armies broke the enemy's ring of steel around Gen. Clark's Tommies and Doughboys and appeared to have ended the critical period of the battle fought against four or more German armored divisions on the bloodstained beaches.

Announcement of the contact was made by Allied headquarters shortly after a communique had told of Montgomery's capture of Vallo Della Lucania, only 16 miles from Agropoli, at the southern end of the 27-mile front held by the Fifth army.

At the same time Clark's army struck out from its hard-won shore line and recaptured the mountain village of Albanello, 10 miles inland, smashed three German counterattacks and flattened several German salients that had been driven into Allied positions.

(An Algiers broadcast by NBC said Montecorvino, 8 1/2 miles inland and 11 miles east of Salerno at the northern end of the bridgehead, also was captured in the repulse of one of the German attacks.)

Site of Good Airfield

(London dispatches said seizure of Montecorvino would be one of the more significant Allied victories as the town is understood to be the site of one of the best airfields along the whole lower stretch of Italian west coast. With an airfield in Allied hands there the scope and effectiveness of fighter plane protection for Gen. Clark's base of operations would be greatly extended.)

(A British broadcast from Algiers recorded by CBS, said the Fifth and Eighth army patrols met about half way between Agropoli and Vallo Della Lucania, or less than 10 miles from the beachhead.)

Gen. Eisenhower's communique said the Germans' efforts to reduce the Allied bridgehead "have weakened considerably," that air and naval support of the land fighters continued to be heavy and effective, and repeated Gen. Clark's declaration of yesterday that the Salerno position was now "firmly established."

Both naval and air support for the fighting Americans and Britishers smashing into the explosive-torn foothills back of the Salerno landing beaches continued to be "excellent," a communique said.

No Air Opposition

American Liberators covered the target area with bombs yesterday, encountering no air opposition. British Liberators and Halifaxes hit supply dumps in the area, during the previous night in a raid coinciding with one carried out by medium bombers of the African force.

The Northwest African Air command also sent medium bombers against enemy transports in the Aulitta district Wednesday night while yesterday heavy and medium bombers ranged over highways, railway bridges and other points around Naples and Salerno.

Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce, who reached Fifth army headquarters two days ago after a daring 100-mile trip through no-man's land in advance of the Eighth, reported the Germans had thrown few obstructions in the path of Montgomery's veterans.

Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deputy commander-in-chief, stepped ashore in the Salerno area Wednesday.

IT COULD HAPPEN ONLY HERE

Remember this about the Third War Loan drive—only America could do it!

This is the only country on earth whose plain, ordinary people have enough money in their pockets to subscribe a third of a War Loan total of 15 billion dollars.

It's the only country with enough natural wealth and productive power to be the arsenal of democracy and freedom.

It's the only country which can pay its workers good wages in wartime. The dictatorships are using forced labor working for pittance, or no wages at all. The wartime wage scale in England is closely restricted. In China, a worker's pay, no matter what it is, vanishes in the presence of inflation. The Russians think they have done something radical by letting the best workers draw any pay at all.

But in the United States men, women and families dare to dream of salvaging security for themselves out of a war for the security of the nation. By turning their cash into government securities they can do three things: Support the war on the fighting fronts, secure stability on the home front and insure their own buying power in the post-war years.

This is just one more detail of the American way—one more thing that makes this country a good place to be in war or peace. By helping others we help ourselves. Millions are doing it now. Millions more are catching on. All of them are buying War Bonds to the limit of their ability. What about the limit of your ability?

DANGEROUS MEDICINE

The problem of giving the military establishment the manpower it wants without crippling war industry, which already has raised the issue of drafting pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, is reviving the larger issue of drafting everybody.

Backers of the proposal for a national service act are becoming active again. They are reviving their plan for authority to conscript all males from 18 to 65—and perhaps women under 50—for government assignment to war work. It should not be overlooked at this time that the plan has been endorsed by high authority, principally War Secretary Stimson, as the only means of making sufficient manpower available for war industry.

A national service act would be dangerous medicine; that is freely admitted. Even if it were kept on the shelf only as a last resort, as it is said to be, it might create as much trouble as it was prescribed to cure. The distinction in the people's mind between military service and civilian employment couldn't be overcome by merely passing a law.

If President Roosevelt, who previously had reserved judgment, now believes the situation warrants his personal advocacy of a national service act—as many Washington observers believe he is prepared to do—one of the toughest of all possible public questions will have to be threshed out in the midst of war. Necessary or unnecessary, the drafting of citizens for non-military service raises too many questions to be accepted without public uproar—and a comparable uproar might follow its rejection.

WRONG ON TWO COUNTS

Any increase of social security taxes in even remote connection with general taxation for war is going to find the security taxpaying minority of the public skeptical.

It would be wrong to take advantage of their situation in a system of payments already existing to foist an increase on them, instead of imposing some new system on the general public.

It would be wrong on another count, too. Persons participating in the social security system do not, strictly speaking, pay taxes at all. They make payments for which they receive benefits. The fact that payments are ploved into the treasury's general fund and disbursed thereafter as tax money does not entirely do away with the legal distinction between money paid without hope of direct return and money paid to assure specified benefits when certain requirements have been fulfilled.

There is no easy way out of the government's problem of how to recover more of the national income it is subsidizing without letting the wage earner know how much the war is going to cost him. An attempt to hide a tax boost with social security sugar would be a bid for trouble.

COUNSEL ROSENMAN

Though it has been common knowledge that Samuel I. Rosenman, appointed to the supreme court of New York by Franklin D. Roosevelt in recognition of his services when Mr. Roosevelt was governor of the state, was close to the White House, his influence will be easier to comprehend in his newly appointed role of special counsel to the President. There should be nothing hidden, or even half-hidden, about the composition of the White House staff.

Judge Rosenman will function as an administrative assistant to the chief executive, though it is not plain whether he is to be one of those with a "passion for anonymity." It will be his official duty henceforth to relieve Mr. Roosevelt of certain tasks. Instead of being a somewhat mysterious figure flitting in and out of the White House on special occasions, he will become a member of the staff. His judgeship has been relinquished.

Due to his previous access to Mr. Roosevelt's ear and the latter's freely admitted reliance on the Rosenman intellect and judgment, there is no prospect of change in the trend of presidential thinking. Mr. Roosevelt, having found Judge Rosenman valuable as a frequent caller, apparently has decided he would be 10 times as valuable as a member of the household.

For Saturday, September 18

TODAY'S ASTRAL aspects are of great significance in social, artistic and domestic relations, in which there may be more than ordinary functions or celebrations, this probably in appreciation of promotion, honors, preferment or favors from those in high places. It is a propitious time for seeking these distinctions, but with some circumspection in regard to subtle alliances or intrigue that might unfold doubtful denouements. Likewise be cautious with writings or signatures.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may hope for a prized promotion, honor, favor or token of preferment, with the friendliest of feelings from those in power and high standing. There is likely to be much social celebration in honor of this distinction. In business relations sign papers cautiously and in all matters beware of entangling alliances which might in the end prove regrettable. Aim high for worthwhile promotion or progress.

A child born on this day should be endowed with much versatility, artistic ability and ambition, which should enlist the friendly support of superiors, employers or those in high station and influence.

Mental Breakdowns In Army

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A FRIEND of mine who has for many years been psychologist to the student body of one of our large universities has achieved a sort of quiet official fame in army and navy circles during the last year. For years all the students' behavior problems in his university were sent to him for study and possible adjustment. Student behavior problems, of course, range all the way from consistently poor grades and multiple failure in classes on up.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

My friend has kept very careful and meticulous records and case histories on these students, some of which cover a period in the student's life of three or four years. About a year ago he bundled up a thousand of them and took them down to Washington and explained to the authorities why these men would be no good to the fighting forces, but only pure trouble, and should be rejected for service.

He was proved right in so many instances that had already been tried out that he was asked to submit his whole list and his recommendations are saving the taxpayers thousands, perhaps millions, of dollars. That ought to rate him a vote of thanks alone when nobody else is even considering saving the taxpayer any money.

Mental Breakdowns Probably the most serious medical problem of the armed forces today is the extent of mental breakdowns which require care or dismissal. At least numerically it constitutes the largest group and to that extent is the most serious problem.

In July, 1918, General Pershing sent this cablegram from overseas: "Prominence of mental disorders in replacement troops recently received suggests importance of efforts in eliminating mentally unfit prior to departure from the United States."

An intensive effort is being made to prevent the recurrences of this situation this time. Many selectees are refused at the induction center. But we still have to return one out of every 200 soldiers to their homes on account of mental unfitness and the number of nervous and mental cases in our army hospitals is about 3 per 100 cases.

Causes of Disorders It must be remembered that in ordinary peaceful civil life nine-tenths of the work of the world is done by people of whom little or no responsibility and no heavy or varied mental capacity is required. As long as life goes on in an even tenor they are all right. But let a family conflict, financial trouble, going away to school, marriage and a certain proportion of them go to pieces.

Now fighting in a war is an eruption that makes all others look trivial, so it is no wonder we have a lot of mental casualties. The causes of the breakdowns as found by army medical officers are: Separation from home ties, anxiety over family, change of habit routines, necessity of submission to authority, loss of privacy, loss of prestige, monotony, fear of being a coward.

But in all cases a neurotic personality is at the foundation, and in most cases the conflict can be predicted. That is where my

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Outside dawn was breaking. In these brief minutes within Diaz's office night had given place to day, and over the still waters of the bay a tropical dawn was flaming across the sky.

Gloria looked up in forlorn surprise. "Another day. Another day to face Drew, I am afraid."

"There's nothing to fear," she drew a deep breath. "Oh, I feel so lost, so terribly lost! Dreading the morning, the path. Once she looked back, and for a second Drew thought she might retrace her steps, but instead she seated herself in the car."

Through dawn and daybreak, down out of the foothills they drove, while minute by minute the world awakened and the jungle took on outline. Wisps of gossamer-thin clouds, touched crimson by the sun, waved over the misty bay, and the blue horizon reached back to the rim of the sky.

But to it all Gloria remained unseeing. Eyes straight ahead, hands in her lap, and Spanish shawl about her, she sat remote with grief, like some lovely but desolate creature of Velasquez. Watching her, Drew's heart tightened. She was suffering, and he was powerless to help or console her. There was nothing to say. She was leaving her home, her father, and all the traditions that had bound her.

As they neared the coast, she looked up. "Where are you taking me, Don Drew?"

"To Molly. She'll understand."

"I know." The thought seemed to bring a touch of comfort, but soon she said, "I can't stay there—not long. And I'll never go up to the capital where my father's people are. I would have no peace; night and day they would talk of duty and family pride. And I want to end all that—even if it breaks my heart."

She looked up with a rueful smile. "You look sad too."

"Do I? It's because I was thinking all this is my fault. I could still explain to your father."

"No, you could never explain. Never would he entirely trust me. Please don't blame yourself. Don't think this began just tonight. It started long ago, and sooner or later this had to come." With both hands she pushed back her hair and drew a deep breath of the morning air. "You know—her voice had regained something of its old richness—I am still a little frightened, but for the first time in my life I feel free."

With age-old wisdom Molly took the girl in charge and promptly put her to bed. It was just as well, for the strain of those past hours had been too great, and Gloria's tale ended in convulsive sobs. Quietly Molly sat by the bed stroking the girl's hair, knowing that tears were the very solace she needed, until, utterly worn out, Gloria fell asleep.

Drew and Spud were still sitting on the porch when Molly tiptoed out.

Drew looked up. "How is she?"

"Sleeping."

"Poor kid."

Molly sat down on the step. "It was a sad day for women when men got the remarkable notion they're the lords of creation." She cast a quizzical look at her husband, but Spud, full of the news Drew had just given him, said, "Tell Molly what you told me."

Drew repeated the story of Nan Alter's offer to lend them money for the well, and when he ended, Spud grinned.

"Well, it's plain enough she's not buying an interest in any oil well—she's buying an interest in you. She likes the way you wear your freckles."

Drew frowned. "You're one hundred per cent wrong. The point is, Alter may put her up to it, or he may not. But she's offering the money without strings, and the only question is, shall we take it?"

"Shall we take it?" Spud sputtered. "You'd be loco to turn it down. For two weeks we've been wearing calluses on our fingers trying to raise enough money to get started. We still need forty thousand dollars, and now when a big chunk like this drops from heaven, you get coy."

But Drew was unconvinced. "Let's think about it."

"Don't think too long. And another thing—we'd better take out that drilling permit. Diaz won't love you much after what happened with Gloria, and he's still a senator with enough drag to hold up a million permits."

It was something Drew hadn't thought of. "We'll go down before noon," he agreed. "Right now I'm dead."

After four hours of dreamless sleep, the drilling permit was Drew's first thought, and with Spud beside him he was driving through the camp when Ray Cutter called to him from the administration building.

Friends for many years, the two men held each other in mutual respect; and, as Drew opened the office door, Cutter called, "What's all the rush?"

Drew smiled. "We're on our way to the village for a drilling permit."

Cutter leaned back in his chair. "So you're really going through with that wildcat idea, Drew?"

"I hope so. We haven't all the money we need, but Spud and I thought we'd better clinch the permit."

Cutter gazed somberly out the window. "You're making a big decision. I hope it's not a mistake. You see, Drew, it isn't as if you're leaving us to drill a well and then coming back to us if it fizzles. Once you're out, you're out; and it'll be up to me to fill your place."

"I know it will, Ray. You've given me my chance."

"It isn't that. You're the best explorer we ever had. But this is a tough country to wildcat, and you'll be on a shoestring. A big company can afford to sink a hundred wells and still keep going, but you're risking everything on one. You'll have Franz Alter to back, and if he cracks down you can't lift a hand to help. Drew, you'll be like a sheep in a den of wolves. You don't realize how much goes on behind the scenes to run an oil outfit in this country—political maneuvers, swapping favors, taking it on the chin when you have to. Even with strong friends at the capital and back in Washington, we have plenty of troubles. What chance would you stand alone?"

"You mean against Alter?"

Cutter drummed with his stubby fingers on the desk.

"If I were just Alter—" he said half to himself; then straightened in his chair.

"Drew, I've been watching Alter ever since he came here, and I've seen the perfect organization he's built up in Veragua. The boys at the embassy tell me there are organizations like that all over Central and South America, and a spy system that covers both continents. It's an army—that's what it is. An army working underground. There's a fellow here now, going under the name of Gleason, supposed to be a radio salesman; but the embassy says he's been sent here by Alter's government to check up on things. Thing of it! A carefully planned invasion of a whole continent, with spies, counterespies, and inspector-generals. Drew, you don't expect to buck an outfit like that, do you?"

Slowly Drew nodded. "I think that's just exactly what I expect to do. The Rio Bravo field means more than just a well to me. If Spud and I hit oil, we're doing something bigger than sinking a hundred wells—we're stopping Alter's gang from getting what may be the richest field in South America. That's worth taking a gamble on. Sooner or later the Planet gang is going to drill back there again, and sometime they'll stumble on the right formation. If that time ever comes, Franz Alter and his people will overrun Veragua like a swarm of locusts. I'm going to get there first, or go broke trying."

Cutter pushed back his chair and rose. "So it's war, then—economic war. I suppose it had to come. Sooner or later somebody had to buck the Planet bunch in a showdown fight, if it's only to wake up some of our unconscious Congressmen back home."

"Well, we won't be able to help you much, but if I can make things a little easier by letting you have our secondhand stuff for what it's worth, you're welcome to it. That's about as much as I can do." He held out his hand. "Except to wish you all the luck in the world."

To Drew the door seemed to close with grim finality behind him. He was cutting himself adrift—he was on his own. And his eyes were more than usually serious as he drove with Spud down to the sleepy little office of the Jefe Civil.

Flies were buzzing about the dingy room, the walls were piled high with dusty law books and government pamphlets, and behind the ink-stained desk a government clerk sat writing in a large ledger.

The formalities of the permit were soon disposed of, the application form signed by both Drew and Spud. It was simply a permit to drill on government land within the Rio Bravo area, good for ninety days, and included the usual royalty provisions to protect the interests of the government.

Drew had just finished signing when the clerk rose with a jerk and began bowing in the direction of the door—Franz Alter had come in.

In the half-light of the office he had not yet caught sight of the others, while, bowing before him, the obsequious little clerk kept murmuring words of welcome.

Brusquely Alter threw a pile of papers on the desk, saying in his guttural Spanish, "I want those surveys approved and returned to me tomorrow."

The clerk showed no outward trace of resentment at the dictatorial tone, and Drew wondered how deeply Alter was entrenched in Veraguan officialdom.

But now Franz had seen them. He walked forward, his face darkening as if the memory of that scene in the hospital still rankled; then his eyes fell to the permit application, and suddenly he laughed.

"So you are still carrying on this farce?"

"You can read, can't you?" Drew folded the paper and handed it to the clerk.

"You imbeciles!" Franz thrust his face closer. "Two American paupers wildcatting in a country condemned by States Oil and proved worthless after a dozen trials. Do you think I would let you, a single man, begin drilling in a field where even a company as big as States Oil would think twice before invading? There is no room for you in the Rio Bravo field, even if you could raise the capital—but you'll never get the backing to sink a well deep enough to bury you."

The confident, contemptuous tone brought quick blood to Thorpe's face, but he only said, "Like to bet?" Alter hesitated, then his big hand struck the desk. "One thousand pesos you never sink a drill in the Rio Bravo."

Drew picked up his hat. "Taken," he answered. "Let's go, Spud."

In the Fall For Best Results!

Let it be said that there is no better time to seed a lawn than in the early Fall of the year. Fall is nature's time for seeding, when the young grass plants can benefit from the warm days, cool nights and suffer from very little weed competition. After a more or less unhampered Fall Growing season, the grass is permitted a quiet sleep through the Winter months. It again greens up in the Spring before other vegetations begin to bud. Another cool growing season speeds the turf on to maturity, encouraging deep, vitalizing roots before the trials of the hot summer months, which bring death-dealing drought and weeds.

the movements, numbers, descriptions, condition and disposition of the armed forces as well as to ships, aircraft, and war materials of the United States."

Named In True Bills
The eight indicted are: Miss Grace Buchanan-Dineen, self-styled "countess" named by federal authorities as head of the group; Carl John Wilhelm Leonhardt, Detroit, naturalized citizen described as a founder of a branch of the Nazi party here in 1933; Mrs. Emma Elise Leonhardt, his wife; Mrs. Theresa Behrens, Detroit; Mrs. Marianne Von Moltke, wife of Heinrich A. Von Moltke, who was deposed as a German instructor at Wayne university after she was detained as a dangerous alien; Dr. Fred William Thomas, Detroit obstetrician; Walter Abt, Romeo, Mich., research engineer and tool designer in a Detroit war plant; and Bertrand Stuart Hoffman, former merchant seaman arrested Aug. 24 in New York.

Lehr said penalties upon conviction range from 30 years imprisonment to death.

The grand jury which returned the indictments before Federal Judge Edward J. Moineau started its investigation here Sept. 7, with Miss Buchanan-Dineen the principal witness.

Columbian Fair Will End Tonight

LISBON, Sept. 17.—A parade and program by county 4-H clubs was a highlight of the county fair events today.

Led by the Beaver Rural school band, 200 club members marched at the fairgrounds in the parade in which eight originally designed and arranged floats and three other bands appeared. The bands were those of Lisbon and New Waterford High schools and the air-mountain Children's home.

A livestock parade, several free entertainment features and fireworks tonight were to mark the close of the fair.

Shed Shelter in Downpour
Rain marred the program last night and caused a premature shooting of fireworks display, but a large crowd of fair visitors who sought shelter during a 20-minute shower, remained for the evening and witnessed the best free attractions to be presented on the grounds in recent years.

Klein's attractions were headlined by a 20-foot diving act into a 10-foot tank of water, and a top-notch balancing team, Phil and Bonnie. Other acts also included a xylophonist, a trained dog-pony and monkey act and trained horses, and the glib master of ceremonies.

The show, slightly varied, will be presented again tonight.

A fine racing program was presented during the afternoon, although each race was won in three straight heats, good marks were made in each event.

Tuffy Jayzoff, a bay gelding owned and driven by Louis Huber of Carthage, O., won the 2:17 act in 2:15, 2:13 and 2:14; Bennie J. bay gelding owned and driven by Joe Wolfe, 77 of Circleville, O., won the 2:17 pace in 2:14, 2:12½ and 2:14. Counter Direct, roan gelding owned by Lester Rogers of Steubenville, took all three heats of the free-for-all with the time of the mile 2:10½, 2:11 and 2:12.

In the judging of exhibits completed late Wednesday, the Mile Branch grange won first prize of $50, narrowly defeating Pleasant Valley grange which was awarded second place of $40. Midway had the only juvenile grange exhibiting and attracted much comment by its unique display of produce.

Walter Johnson turned in 413 victories in 21 years with Washington. Christy Mathewson won 373 for the Giants in 17 seasons.

collaboration among the nations we must put it in practice among Americans."

One of the country's obligations, he said, is to make "A serious and conscientious effort to build a better understanding" among the nations and peoples, and failing to do so "we must stand convicted before posterity as ignorant, heartless and unworthy reactionaries."

Bricker said that in conformity with constitutional government, a lengthy period in planning for permanent collaboration would give the people of the nation time to consider the various proposals and have them debated by Congress.

No Hasty Treaties
"We want no treaties this time," he said, "hastily written and thrust before us to be accepted without question. If we believe in freedom, we should act constitutionally in the spirit of freedom by showing full confidence in our own countrymen."

This country's position in the creation of world stability should be made known "beyond the shadow of a doubt" lest distrust and hatred arise from encouraging hopes or making promises that cannot be fulfilled, he said.

Governor Bricker said this country should retain an incomparable navy and air force for protection of our interests in the two oceans and "in close collaboration with our neighbors, maintain an impregnable defense."

Our own financial integrity must be maintained by making our dollar a sound one wherever it goes, he asserted.

More Film Is Seen For Amateur Photographers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Amateur camera clickers who've been thwarted recently by a growing scarcity of films can start relaxing a little.

Military demands for film, particularly those of the Air Force, are lessening, War Production board officials said today.

Output of film will not be increased, WPB asserted, but the present system of priorities for military and professional needs means that film released by lesser military stockpiling will make about that much more available to non-priority users.

U. S. Civil Service Jobs Are Offered At Dayton

Immediate employment is being offered qualified carpenters, plumbers, steamfitters, stationary boiler firemen, heavy duty truck drivers, general helpers, janitors, classified laborers, stenographers, nursing assistants and mimeograph operators for duty with the Army Air Forces at Dayton, the U. S. Civil Service commission announced today.

George M. Rynick, representative, will be at the U. S. Employment Service office, 616 E. State st. on Monday between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. to give immediate appointments to qualified applicants.

industry, with two minute responses, and two wounded war veterans will speak for ten minutes.

The entertainment, including orchestra selections and singing by the WACS, will be in charge of Lieut. Ramey. Retreat, followed by the national anthem played by the massed bands, will conclude the program. Salem High school and Fairmount Children's Home bands will play as the crowd enters the stadium and is being seated.

A dance in Memorial building for the soldiers will be sponsored by the Red Cross which will provide hostesses. The soldiers must leave at 10 for camp, remaining here over night.

Schools Close Early

Salem's schools will close early Monday to permit children to see the soldiers and their equipment, and arrangements were being made today for stores to be closed early in the afternoon.

Local photographers will be permitted to take all the "shots" they want at the army equipment while it is being exhibited in this city, officers announced today.

MAN RESCUED IN COLUMBIANA FIRE

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 17.—Firemen were called at 11:45 a. m. Thursday to extinguish a fire which destroyed the rear part of an empty store room on Main st., owned by William Miller.

The room was used for storage and the front part of the building was occupied by James Orr, who was removed from the burning building. Mr. Orr has been ill and lives there alone.

The cause of the fire is undetermined. The firemen worked for some time to prevent the blaze from spreading to adjoining buildings.

The War Today By DeWitt MacKenzie

Why is this "the beginning of the war, so far as the United States is concerned," when hearts and backs have been broken for almost two years without a whimper to meet colossal demands? After all, who is there who doesn't realize that we have tremendous sacrifices ahead of us, both on the battlefields and on the home front?

The Nazis liked part of Mr. Morgenthau's speech so much that they used it for propaganda to buck up their own people. It surely can't be good for both Nazis and Yankees—or is it?

But to get back to our muttons, the Germans on the Russian front are faced with two momentous problems: (1) Whether they can pull back their long, unwieldy, badly mauled line to the defenses of the Dnieper river and there re-establish themselves; (2) Whether they can overcome the grave danger of being cut off in the Crimea, as the result of the fall of Novorossisk and the steadily increasing threat to their right flank near the northern entrance to the Crimean peninsula.

The indications now are that the Nazis' hope of standing off further disastrous reverses must lie in the possibility that the autumn rains, which already have begun, will slow the Russians down until cold weather arrives to freeze the ground. The mud is a terrible impediment during the rainy season.

King Seeks Protection

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A Reuters dispatch from Zurich today quoted diplomatic circles in Bern, Switzerland, as saying that King Vittorio Emanuele of Italy had appealed to the British government for protection for himself and his son Umberto.

No comment on this report or on the whereabouts of the Italian King was forthcoming here.

TIME QUESTION

Cities as yet undecided include Lancaster, Lima, Ironton, Newark, Portsmouth, and Steubenville. The Portsmouth council has asked for an indication of public sentiment before acting. War workers in the latter city were reported opposed to the change as a hindrance to production.

Merchants, as in Mount Vernon, favor the change. Rural communities traditionally have preferred slow time.

Marion, Massillon and East Liverpool reported no change proposed. East Liverpool, on the Ohio river, was one of the first to protest the general assembly's action in establishing slow time for Ohio.

128 Billion War Costs Are Cited

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The war to date has cost us $128,123,000,000, President Roosevelt told Congress today, as he listed these fighting items produced and delivered between May, 1940, and Sept. 1, 1943:

- 123,000 airplanes
- 349,000 airplane engines
- 53,000 tanks
- 93,000 artillery weapons
- 9,500,000 small arms
- 25,942,000,000 rounds of small arms ammunition
- 1,233,000 trucks
- 2,380 fighting ships and auxiliaries
- 13,000 landing vessels

These items were given simply as samples of what the outlay has bought.

Disease Follows Japs
WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Cholera and the plague are marching against the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific.

Data compiled by the Netherlands information bureau disclosed today that typhoid, malaria, dysentery and other epidemic diseases are waging guerrilla warfare against the empire-builders from Nippon.

Grants Wage Increase
EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 17.—The National Labor Relations board today granted an hourly wage increase of five cents, retroactive to Feb. 9, 1942, to production workers at the Treadwell Construction Co. in nearby Midland, Pa. James Mullen, district CIO organizer, said

Girls Find Fun, Hard Work In U. S. Navy Nurses Corps

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Features Writer

U. S. NAVAL HOSPITAL, Sampson, N. Y.—Girls, take care of those medals—because if you've got at least 20 natural vital, serviceable teeth and meet other physical qualifications you may become a Navy nurse.

Having lived in the salty atmosphere of the most modern naval training station in the world—this despite its 300 mile distance from the sea—with a bevy of attractive girls wearing the blue and gold, I can tell you that being a Navy nurse has its compensations.

Though a Navy nurse works hard, she lives comfortably, and has lots of time for recreation. Whether on foreign duty, hospital ship or in the United States she is entitled to the privileges of a commissioned officer.

At Sampson, the girls bunk three to a room, and look like any other attractive girls when not on duty, skipping around in their lounge clothes or slacks. They are permitted to have parties if they wish, smoke cigarettes and invite their beaux to call on them. They are bidden by the chief nurse, Lieut. (jg.) Sylvia Koller, to act as if they were in their own homes.

Each girl is commissioned in the Navy nurse corps as an ensign at a basic pay of $150 a month plus subsistence of $21 a month. The initial issue regulation ward and street uniforms are provided.

To qualify, she must be a high-school graduate, registered nurse, age 22 to 28, citizen of the United States or naturalized 10 years, single, widowed or legally separated, physically qualified and have satisfactory credentials from training schools and other sources.

If you've been yearning to become a nurse, Uncle Sam can help solve your problem. Congress has passed a law to stimulate interest in professional nursing as a career. It provides all-expense scholarships including maintenance, uniforms and a monthly allowance in schools of nursing for qualified candidates.

Cadet Nurse Corps
Girls qualifying for the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps will be the first women ever to receive free professional education. They will wear the official silver button of the corps with the caduceus of the medical corps, the eagle of the Army, and the anchor of the Navy. To date, however, there are no cadet nurses in the Navy.

A gray Montgomery beret, gray flannel suit with red epaulets and a guards coat of gray velours will be the attractive official winter uniform.

Over 65,000 new student nurses are needed to augment the 35,000 who are now in the service and the constant demand of the armed forces for over 2,500 nurses a month.

Girls joining the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps have the privilege of selecting military or essential civilian nursing.

Prisoner Labor Used

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Many Axis prisoners in this country are being used to relieve manpower shortages, the War department reported today, announcing that 110,000 of the approximately 141,000 captives are at work on farms and elsewhere.

Knox Cancels Talk

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—The press of official duties will prevent Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox from making a scheduled address before the Cleveland Advertising Club on Oct. 8, the club was advised today.

Makes Flight at 91

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—If waiting a bit gives an added zest to an experience, R. B. Whitacre of St. Paul must have enjoyed his first airplane flight. He is 91 years old. His pilot was 69-year-old V. U. Young of Gary, Ind., who has been flying for 20 years.

U. S. Ground Boss In Britain Known As Life-Long Fighter

By FRANK E. TAYLOR
AP Features

PETERSBURG, Va.—The two small brothers were fighting—going at it hammer and tongs—when their mother intervened and ordered the two to sit and reflect upon their wrong doing.

They dutifully sat, but once released, the two retired to their backyard and went back to fighting.

That was some 45 years ago.

Today, one of those brothers—Leonard Townsend Gerow—has another big fight on his hands; this time as the new commander of the United States ground forces in Britain which are being primed to strike at the continent.

Since that early boyhood scrap, Major General Gerow has seen much action to prove he is a fighting man.

He fought for and won the distinction of being the only man of his class at Virginia Military Institute to be called into the regular army with rank of second lieutenant without further examination except for a physical.

Holds Several Medals

He has served on the Mexican border, in the first World war, in the Philippines and in China. In the first World war he won the Distinguished Service medal and the decoration of the French Legion of Honor.

Before succeeding Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle as commanding officer of the American forces in Britain, he served as chief of the United States Army staff's war plans division and later as commander of the 29th Division.

"General Gerow," as he is known to his men, or "Big Gee," as many of his early friends call him, was reared in surroundings strongly influenced by family ties.

The Gerow brothers—"Big Gee," "Little Gee," who is Brig. Gen. Lee Saunders Gerow, George and Joe—together with their sister, Mrs. Freeman W. Jones, of Roanoke, spent a great deal of their childhood playing in the Gerow backyard.

"There were always gangs of all ages playing in our yard," Mrs. Jones recalled.

"The family had no great amount of money," Mrs. Jones said, "but we did learn to amuse ourselves and we had a good library. All of us read a lot."

A Born Leader

"I remember the boys read stories of Viking sailors and King Arthur's roundtable, and played with wooden swords and shields of kettle tops."

At Virginia Military Institute, "Big Gee," also known as "Jeremiah," was described by his classmates as a "born leader." He was an honor man in his class of 1911.

He could "get tough," classmates recalled, but was ready to give a helping hand to those who needed help.

Colonel Henley P. Boykin, of the class of 1912 and now on the V. M. I. faculty recalled that Cadet Capt Gerow was "fair and easy on rats" (V. M. I. fourth classmen) but rough on old cadets if they did not "put out" for the company.

Lieut. Col. Blandy B. Clarkson, associate professor of mathematics and director of athletics at V. M. I., recalled that he was a "rat" tackle during Gerow's first class year when he managed the football team.

"He was a good football manager," Col. Clarkson said.

Dies At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—Funeral service will be held Saturday for Patrick Casey, 69, founder and president of the Workmen's Compensation Service Co., who died here Wednesday. He served as a member of the Ohio Industrial Commission from 1912 to 1921 and again in 1926 when he became chairman.

Gas Tax Receipts Off

COLUMBUS, Sept. 17.—Collections from Ohio's three-cent motor vehicle fuel tax totaled $17,569,758 during the first six months of this year, $4,846,833 less than for the corresponding 1942 period before rationing. Tax on gasoline for non-highway use was $6,494,699 compared to $8,382,175 for the first six months of last year.

Massillon Boy Killed

NORTHPORT, Me., Sept. 17.—Sergeant Walter M. Wales, son of Mrs. Arvine Wales of Massillon, Ohio, and Northport, one-time U. S. ambassador to Turkey, was killed during the initial invasion of Sicily, the family announced.

Joan Leslie and Fred Astaire are teamed together for the first time in an exciting new musical comedy, "The Sky's the Limit."

"The Sky's the Limit," which stars Fred Astaire and Joan Leslie, is showing at the State tonight and Saturday with Robert Benchley in the featured role. The action of the film takes place when Astaire, portraying the role of a pilot home on leave, has ten days in which to do anything he would like to do.

He starts out by finding the finest night club in New York and dines there dressed as a cowboy, asks for a job and then tells the employer the mistakes he has made and last but not least falls in love with Joan Leslie, a New York photographer.

"Land of Hunted Men" and "Prisoner of Japan" will be at the Grand tonight and Saturday.

Hobart College at Geneva, N. Y., scored only three touchdowns in six 1942 games. The Orange and Purple made but 20 points to their rivals' 222.

How Home Church Can Help Overseas

AP Features

WASHINGTON—An overseas chaplain, Evans T. Moseley, had peered a number of chaplains on what local congregations can do for the man on foreign soil. The results of his survey were released by Chief of Chaplains William R. Arnold.

Here are the eight suggestions put forward by overseas chaplains:

1. Pray for those absent at war.
2. Write to them. Devise ways of keeping the names of the men before members. Give them news, trivial events which makes church life interesting.
3. Write to their chaplains.
4. Send devotional helps—church bulletins, Bible lessons, etc.

5. Keep in touch with their families. Strengthen them.
6. Honor them in stated services. Some churches call the service men's roll every Wednesday night.
7. Show interest in the return of those on furlough or on sick leave.
8. Keep the churches worth returning to.

Kidnaping Figure Dies

Stoll Kidnaping Figure Wins Alcatraz Release

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Thomas H. Robinson, sentenced for the kidnaping of Alice Stoll in Kentucky in 1934, won his battle for a writ of habeas corpus and freedom from Alcatraz prison today.

Robinson was granted a writ by Federal Judge Michael J. Roche last Aug. 9, but its execution was delayed by a government appeal. Today, Assistant U. S. Attorney A. J. Zirpich announced the government would ask dismissal of the appeal and that Robinson would be returned to Louisville, Ky., for whatever further action federal officials there might wish to take.

Robinson based his bid for freedom on the contention he was not properly represented by counsel when he pleaded guilty in Kentucky.

Col. Roosevelt's Role In Salamaua Fall Wins Praise

BY VERN HAUGLAND WITH ALLIED TROOPS AT
SALAMAUA, Sept. 14.—(Delayed)—
The daring observational tactics of Lt. Col. Archie Roosevelt, son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, contributed directly to the fall of Salamaua, an enlisted man from an amphibious engineering unit disclosed today.

Col. Roosevelt had been with the 41st division's 162nd regiment throughout its record-breaking 76-day period of combat during which the Japanese were pushed from the Mubo and Nassau bay area, out of Salamaua and almost out of Lae.

The colonel, thin but looking well, is one of the most popular men in the regiment. His fellow officers say he is a stimulating conversationalist and dinner companion even over a tin of bully beef.

The story of his daring achievement came from Technician (5th gr.) John Bertot of Coal City, Ill., who helped man a small landing barge.

Locate Enemy Fire
"Our troops occupied Salamaua Saturday," Bertot said. "On the previous Wednesday, Col. Roosevelt, with two officers and three enlisted men, made a reconnaissance tour of Salamaua harbor."

"Under his orders we went close to the isthmus until Jap guns started firing at us, then turned west across the harbor and approached to within a hundred yards of shore where we could see the Japs running from bush to bush."

"Col. Roosevelt stood up with a map in his hand and every time a gun was fired jotted down its position."

"They fired at us for half an hour, barely missing us several times. While Col. Roosevelt was standing there deliberately encouraging them to fire at us, I was crouching in the bottom of a boat praying for all I was worth."

"The colonel noticed I was scared and said 'you're safe with me. I was wounded three times in the last war and that's a lucky charm.'"

"Roosevelt's a good officer, but he's got too damn much guts. When we got back to the base officers said it was the first information on gun positions yet obtained."

"The next day our artillery landed square on those guns and the Japs never fired them again. That was when their resistance ended —and Col. Roosevelt should get most of the credit for that final blow."

Recodify Road Laws
COLUMBUS, Sept. 17 — Gov.
John W. Bricker appointed today three members to a committee created by the legislature to re-codify the highway department laws.

They are Robert N. Waid of Columbus, former state highway director; Frank Shelton of Cleveland, Attorney for the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and George Arnold, Tuscarawas county engineer.

F. D. R. REVIEWS

southern France and along the English channel. I like to think that these words constitute an understatement."

In general, it was a confident, optimistic picture which Mr. Roosevelt drew of the progress of the war. But he held out no hope whatever that the fighting could be concluded at an early date, and he warned against overconfidence and urged continuations and acceleration of America's production of fighting gear and supplies.

He gave a four-point summation of the war in telling Congress that "we are still a long, long way from ultimate victory in any major theater of the war." These were his points:

FIRST, despite substantial victories in the Mediterranean, "we face a hard, and costly fight up through Italy," and a major task of organizing positions before they can be taken advantage of.

SECOND, from bases in Britain,

"we must be sure that we have assembled the strength to strike not just in one direction, but in many directions,—by land and sea and in the air—with overwhelming forces and equipment."

THIRD, the Russian armies still have a long way to go to get into Germany itself, despite their magnificent counter offensive.

FOURTH, the Japanese remain firmly established on an enormous front from the Kuriles islands in the north to the Solomons in the south and Burma and China in the east, and to break through their defensive ring, "we must hit them and hit them hard, not merely at one point but at many points and we must keep on hitting them."

possibly to take personal command of the over-all operations in Italy.

Occupied Three Provinces

A headquarters spokesman, summarizing the two-week campaign that began with Gen. Montgomery's landing on the Italian toe Sept. 3, said the Allies now have occupied three entire provinces of southern Italy, grabbed the three valuable ports of Taranto, Brindisi and Bari, and gained possession of a large number of excellent air bases, particularly in Apulia province where there are paved runways on which the heaviest bombers can operate at all times.

Although the thrusts up the east coast to Bari and the landing on the west coast at Salerno have established a firm grip as high as the ankle of the Italian boot, the Germans apparently still held a mountain bulge in the center of the peninsula.

British troops from Taranto remained in contact with the Germans at Gioia Del Colle, midway between Taranto and Bari, where units of the first German parachute division have been reported.

There was no information yet as to whether the junction of the Fifth and Eighth armies had compelled the Nazis to withdraw northward from the vicinity of Agropoli, at the southern end of the Fifth army's foothold.

Considered Invasion Test

(The German communiqué, recorded by The Associated Press from Berlin broadcasts, said Allied parachute troops had been made in the German rear, but declared these troops were wiped out while declaring that "the enemy landing head at Salerno was still further compressed," the Germans admitted that the Allies had thrown fresh forces ashore and that Allied resistance near Eboli had considerably stiffened.)

Termin Clark's now successful landing as "most significant," an Allied headquarters spokesman said it proved "we can land a big army and strike hard in a defended area in the fortress of Europe."

With German troops in close proximity who knew we were coming, the Fifth army landed and fought under conditions which the Germans always said would enable them to resist any invasion of the mainland—conditions upon which they based their superman claims."

Check Ohio Drivers On Michigan Trips

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—More than 1,300 motorists, mostly Ohioans, face possible suspension of gasoline ration as the result of a six-day check of Michigan vacation spots by Office of Price Administration investigators, James C. Gruener, regional OPA attorney, reported today.

Regional and district investigators, checking out-of-town and out-of-state licenses on automobiles traveling distances too great for legitimate ration coupon use, found 1,325 obvious violators of mileage rationing regulations, Gruener said.

He added that license numbers have been sent to OPA district headquarters having jurisdiction over the motorists with instruction to institute suspension order proceedings.

Of the violations reported, 450 involved Ohioans from the Toledo, Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus and Cleveland OPA districts. The check was conducted late in August at such Michigan resorts as Charlevoix, Petoskey, Mackinaw City, Sheboygan and other vacation spots along the west shore of Lake Huron and the east shore of Lake Michigan.

Fire Follows Blast At Norfolk, Va., Air Station

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 17.—A terrific explosion and resulting fires damaged several buildings and caused an undetermined number of casualties at the Norfolk naval air station today. Force of the blast shook sections of Norfolk 10 miles from the station.

The Norfolk Office of Civilian Defense said all casualties were being cared for at the naval base hospital, indicating the number of casualties would not be great.

The Navy's first report said a truck loaded with gasoline had exploded near a hangar, setting fires which damaged several buildings at the huge air station.

Navy Officially Credits "Praise the Lord" Author

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17.—The Navy made it official today and named a 35-year-old chaplain from nearby Haddonfield, N. J., as the man who first used the phrase "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition" during the attack on Pearl Harbor.

The chaplain, Lt. Commander Howell E. Forgy, was on his first visit home in three years and the fourth naval district took the occasion to say formally that "the Navy department officially confirms for the first time" that the phrase was Forgy's. Its authenticity has been widely disputed.

Restrict Grape Sales

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The War Food administration has issued an order, effective Sept. 20, restricting the sale of Concord type grapes for fresh consumption in designated producing areas of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Washington.

The order is designed, the WFA said, to divert maximum quantities of grapes to processors for the manufacture of jams, jellies and fruit butters.

The designated area for Ohio is—Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Lorain, Medina, Portage and Summit counties.

NIXIE WORKS
NORTH CAMP POLK, La.—Sergeant Nixie is one of the hardest working top-kicks in the 8th armored division.
The sergeant's mother was a purebred Dalmatian. His father is unknown. Nixie is watch dog of the division's postal section, a job that carries with it a certain responsibility.
Nixie is a postal term for improperly addressed letters and any mail of doubtful origin, hence the sergeant's tag.

ONE MAN'S FUEL
ANOTHER'S MEDICINE
BARNWELL, S. C.—Leslie Eubanks, Barnwell county Negress, watched automobiles whiz over the roads and figured if the stuff that made them go was that powerful, it ought to be good for her rheumatism. Leslie satiated her aching muscles with gasoline, picked up a lamp and started for the bedroom. She stumbled, she caught fire, she got burned, and the rheumatism? Yes, thanks, it's better.

REMOTE CONTROL'S A GIRL
SOMEWHERE IN THE MIDDLE EAST—The officer driving the little staff car glanced at the three-ton truck as he passed it, looked puzzled, and slowed down to let it rumble by him again.
Then he passed it a second time signalling it to stop.
How do you keep your vehicle running from the roof? he asked a girl in the uniform of the British Auxiliary Territorial service who was perched up there enjoying the breeze. "I've been watching you for some time now and can see no sign of a driver."

Before the girl could answer, a small voice from the inside of the cab piped up: "That's only the second driver, sir." And the door opened to reveal a tiny woman, also in an A.T.S. uniform.

MILITARY COURTESY
PAYS DIVIDENDS
LOGAN, W. Va.—A new and popular type of "bill collecting" has found a willing disciple in Sgt. Ohley Bennet of Logan, now stationed with the Ferry command at Romulus Army Air Field, Detroit. Because he is invariably the first enlisted man a newly commissioned officer salutes, Bennet has picked up a neat nest egg of 53 one-dollar bills, out because they are autographed he hesitates to spend them for sentimental reasons. Army tradition dictates that every new officer must present a buck to the first enlisted man who salutes him. At Romulus field, that is always Bennet, because he processes the oaths of office. If no better solution presents itself, Bennet proposes to keep accumulating bills and remembering the donors after the war with some sort of gift.

NICKEL WISE
DOLLAR FOOLISH
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—This is a story of a nickel-squeezer who could have saved himself $7.95.
A policeman noticed the parking meter in front of the man's car registered no nickel. The officer asked the autoist to deposit a coin, but the man refused. So the judge fined him $8.

Salem Meets Sebring In Opening Football Game Tonight

COACH BARRETT'S TEAM READY AFTER PRACTICE GRINDS

Seven Lettermen Ready, Including Squad Captain Dick Greene

The 1943 edition of the Salem High school football team, coached by Ben Barrett, former Struthers mentor, rolls out onto the Reilly stadium greensward tonight to clash with Sebring High in the opening game of the season.

Four Seniors, two Juniors and five Sophomores are expected to be in the starting lineup. Six veterans of last year's squad are represented on the Quaker team, including Captain Dick Greene, Frank Entrikey, Ray Wise, Walt Brian, Johnny Pledge and Ben Kupka. Another letterman, Elmer Johnston, was lost to the armed services recently.

Here's how the team shapes up:

15-Year-Old Weighs 185

Captain Green, who plays right half and is a senior, is a good pass receiver, runner and blocker. Entrikey, left half, passes and kicks and shows a lot of speed. Quarterback Jay Leach, a Sophomore out for his first year, is a good blocker and leader.

Fullback Wise, a Senior, is a speedy back who has been improving his defensive play. At right end is Francis Laney, a Sophomore who was Reserve fullback last season. A good pass receiver is Walt Brian, left end and a Junior.

Next week Salem will engage Ravenna for its second game at Reilly stadium.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

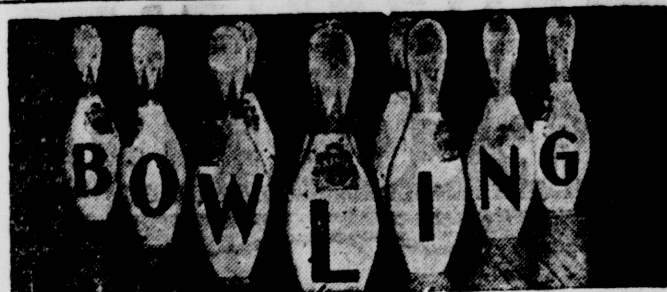

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—Still 16 days to go before the World Series and the Yankees have sold all reserved seats at the stadium. George Krehbiel of the Detroit News became the leading money winner among racing writers recently when his colt, Golden Man, won a $7,500 stakes race at the Detroit fair grounds. . . . now, who is the biggest loser? . . . the Los Angeles Angels won the Pacific Coast league pennant and Milwaukee is about to cop the American association flag, both under the management of men who used to be in the Cubs organization, which affords good ammunition to scribbles who are sniping at the "James Boys." Wilson and Gallagher.

Pigskin Picking

The boys from Roch. are the ones to watch. So we hope that Yale is hearty and hale. (Camp Grant vs. Michigan) Richmond was taken by General Grant. But taking Michigan's something Grant can't. (Duke vs. Camp Lejeune) The Marines are trained on commando stuff. They'll probably find the Blue Devils too tough.

After watching ball players all summer, Dodge Scott Wildcat, Matthews, picked Andy Farko, Cub farmhand at Los Angeles, as the best prospect. Bruiser Kinnard, the big football Dodgers lineman, is trying to regain 15 pounds he lost by working out too strenuously. . . . when the New York Cubans were scheduled for a baseball game in Newark, N. J., the other night they drove right through town and wound up in Newark, 100 miles away. . . . Lester Patrick, who never would consider a player under 17 years old at his Rangers' Hockey "Schools," has invited 15-year-old Ladislav Shukanin of Fort William, Ont., to display his goal-tending skill this year.

(A line on the World Series second baseman to help you line up your own dope on the club). Joe Gordon, Yankees' No. 2, wonder they call him flash, he's got the speed and agility to make those impossible stops. In six years with the Yanks he has played in four All-Star games and is going into his fifth World Series. His batting average tumbled from his all-time high of .322 last season to a mere .236 now but he has hit 14 homers this season. Lou Klein, Cardinals' 1943 edition of the Cards' annual rookie flash; fast and a long-range hitter. Eye trouble accounted for his .240 average at Columbus last year. Currently hitting .291. Last month Capt. Ole Cordill of the Air Corps wrote this about an-

Indians, Detroit Open Series Today

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17—Young Alie Reynolds is the Cleveland Indian pitching nominee for tonight's series opener with the Detroit Tigers, first of four games that will wind up the Tribe's 1943 home season. Seeking his 10th win against the same number of defeats, Reynolds is slated to oppose 17-game winner Virgil Trucks. The teams move to League park tomorrow for a single matinee game, and return to municipal stadium for a doubleheader Sunday. Jeff Heath, slugging outfielder who was benched by Manager Lou Boudreau a week ago for objecting to managerial strategy and idle the last three days with an attack of influenza, is expected to be back in uniform tonight.

YANKEES AND CARDS MAY CLINCH FLAGS IN WEEKEND PLAY

New Yorkers Are In If They Beat Senators Three Straight

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant in both the National and American leagues may be clinched tomorrow and Sunday.

The Yankees have upset the calculations of the figure flirts by winning nine consecutive games, their longest victory string since they put together 11 in a row in July 1942, and now they have a chance to tie down the American league pennant mathematically in a three-game series opening tonight with the Washington Senators.

If the Yanks can sweep the series, a single encounter tonight at Washington and a doubleheader Sunday, they will be "in".

Yesterday the Yanks polished off the Philadelphia Athletics 5-1 with a four-run seventh-inning rally climaxed by Charley Keller's 28th home run and second in two days with a mate aboard. It was the last meeting of the year for the two clubs and gave the Yanks 16 out of 22 games with the A's this season.

If New York fails to nail the pennant Sunday the clincher will be delayed at least until next Wednesday because Monday and Tuesday are open dates for all clubs.

Cardinals Clip Cubs

The St. Louis Cardinals, who clipped the Chicago Cubs 7-5 yesterday, might eliminate the second place Brooklyn Dodgers tonight, but will have to wait at least until tomorrow before freeing out the Cincinnati Reds.

This is because the Dodgers had a game at Boston cancelled Wednesday. "Thus the Cardinal 'combination' against Brooklyn is two and against Cincinnati is three.

The Cardinals found the Cubs tough customers yesterday, however, and it took a two-run homer by George Kuroski in the seventh to settle the game.

In the only other games yesterday the Phillies and Boston Braves divided a doubleheader. The Phils won the 9-2 opener, but Boston took the 8-0 nightcap.

Reduce Electricity Uses and Conserve War Needs, Is Plea

A request to the public to conserve coal, manpower, critical materials and transportation facilities for the war effort by eliminating non-essential uses of electricity was made yesterday by Ohio Edison company.

The movement is part of a nation wide seven industry voluntary conservation program urged by the government effective Sept. 15 and to include savings in coal, oil, gas, telephone, water and transportation facilities.

Ohio Edison stresses the fact that there is no shortage of electricity in the areas where the company does business, but that coal, manpower, critical material, transportation facilities—all necessary to the production of electricity—are also vitally needed by other war industries.

"In asking you voluntarily to conserve electricity," said the company announcement, "our government does not want you to reduce your lighting to a point where it will create hazards, endanger eyesight or the protection of your property and place of business from burglary or sabotage, slow up production, or sacrifice plant efficiency."

The following recommendations for voluntary participation by various classes of electric consumers have been approved by the Office of War Utilities of the War Production board.

HOMES—Turn off lights and appliances when not needed. Eliminate waste in the use of your refrigerator, radio, range and other electrical appliances.

BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENTS—All types of electrical indoor and outdoor advertising, decorative and ornamental lighting should be eliminated in the daytime. In general, nighttime burning is to be reduced as far as practicable and limited to two hours between dusk and 10 o'clock.

Signs necessary for the direction or identification of public restaurants, lodging establishments, transportation terminals, etc., may be burned at night, but only while the establishment is open for business.

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS—Various economies are possible in the use of electricity without adversely affecting production. Recommendations will vary in individual cases.
